The 30th Poets House Showcase

Welcome to the Poets House Showcase, an exhibition that aims to collect and display all poetry published within the United States and abroad during 2024 and 2025. This year's exhibition features 3,217 works from 687 different presses and publishers, with a sweeping range of poetic styles represented.

The Showcase Opening this December 13th marks the 30th presentation of the Showcase, held at the Poets House library in Battery Park City. Since its inception in 1992, the program has charted decades of commercial and cultural shifts in the art form, documenting the publications in exhibition catalogs and aggregating them in the Poets House library, where they remain available on open shelves.

This year's Showcase follows the National Endowment for the Arts' widespread defunding of arts organizations in May 2025. Many independent poetry publishers—including BOA Editions, Nightboat Books, Red Hen Press, Sarabande, Ugly Duckling Presse, and more—were directly impacted. Despite the difficulties in funding poetry publishing today, a number of new poetry publishers have also the Showcase this year, including As Is Press, Calamari Archive, Girl Noise Press, Nine Syllables Press, and Pizama Press.

The Showcase serves as a valuable resource for poets seeking to learn how to navigate the publishing scene, educators looking for new materials to teach, and readers who may find works that are available in few other libraries. In exploring the Showcase, we encourage you to support poets and publishers by reading broadly, sharing about their work, and purchasing their books as you are able.

Organization and Scope of the Showcase

The Showcase exhibit is organized alphabetically by publisher to highlight the range in output, curatorial choices, and even graphic identities of poetry publishers. The catalog that follows provides a guide for locating materials in the physical exhibition, with bookcase numbers corresponding to the location of the publisher on our shelves. The Poets House Showcase focuses on single volumes of poetry, but it also includes a wide array of prose and criticism, anthologies, chapbooks, ephemera, and multimedia works. As in past years, the Showcase includes poetry presented in formats beyond the conventional, ranging from traditional broadsides to unusual poetic objects like envelopes of cards and poems printed on receipt paper.

The focus of the Poets House Showcase is on presses and publishers from the United States, but the collection is also designed to serve an international community of poets. For this reason, Poets House counts books from a number of international publishers among its displays.

At the close of the exhibition, Showcase items move from Elizabeth Kray Hall into the Reed Foundation Library upstairs, where they are integrated into Poets House's permanent collection and made available on open shelves.

Our library catalog also contains a 30th Showcase collection through which you can further explore the exhibition by publisher, date, language, and subject. Please contact showcase@poetshouse.org for help searching the catalog.
